How to write a Nomination or Endorsement

Be Specific - if the form asks you to describe a service provided that meets the qualifications of the award, be very descriptive.

Uninformative Example

Sally Jones should receive the award because she is always organized and is great with parent volunteers. We are all very fond of her and are willing to be under her leadership.

Informative Example

Sally Jones should receive the award because she is a great example of adult volunteer leadership to both girls and adults. Under the wing of her leadership, ten parents are actively volunteering with troop functions. She recently delegated event preparation details to us while she was out of town for a few weeks.

Because she sends regular troop volunteer emails about the bank account status, upcoming adventures, year-to-date troop goals progress, and continuing volunteer needs, we feel informed and organized to step up to the leadership challenge! Sally is always giving thanks for our support to the troop. When she came back from her trip, she gave thanks to us at the Service Unit meeting by organizing a potluck in recognition of her troop volunteers who provide her with endless support.

Other troop leaders at the meeting were taking notes on all of her great ideas!

Show Results - how is the service measurable?

Uninformative Example

Brenda Garcia provided am excellent training to our volunteers.

Informative Example

Brenda Garcia not only provided excellent CPR & First Aid training to volunteers, she was called upon at the last minute when the assigned trainer became ill. Because of her volunteer service, 10 new volunteers had a chance to become certified in First Aid and CPR.

Letter of Endorsement Sample

Letter of Endorsement for Jane Doe for the Honor Pin
January 20, 2025

The opening paragraph should introduce the purpose of the letter, the nominee, and the reason for the nomination.

I am writing this letter to support Jane Doe who is the Volunteer Support Coach in our Service Unit for the Honor Pin. Jane has diligently worked in our neighborhood as well as other service units to provide quality training to leaders which has resulted in improved delivery of Girl Scouting in all three areas.

The body of the letter should describe the specific service, who benefited from the service and provide results of the service that went beyond the position description.

Jane recognized that many of our leaders did not complete the trainings necessary to help them be successful in their first year as leaders. She realized that in our community many adults work second and third shifts which became a real challenge in trying to get them trained. She found that several close by areas were struggling with the same issue. She called a meeting of the service teams and proposed that they offer training at unconventional times due to the nature of the audience they wanted to serve. Everyone was immediately in agreement with her proposal.

Jane went to the volunteer support staff at the Girl Scout council. Working together with both volunteers and staff, Jane established and delivered three training sessions that offered the courses needed by the untrained volunteers. The amazing thing is that they were offered at a local church from 6 - 9 am when everyone was getting off work. Jane's dedication paid off when 30 inexperienced leaders from three Service Units were trained to work with their troops. She showed that by collaborating with each other, much can be accomplished. Jane's work across the three Service Units benefited over 200 girls in new troops and has created strong relationships with the three Service Teams and staff members. For her innovation in training and in partnership with three Service Units and staff member, Jane Doe deserves the Honor Pin.
